The board's official statement said:

"At the request of Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the United States Railroad Labor Board has extended the time provided in decision No. 218, 15 days from August 10.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Strenuous opposition to any attempt to establish piece work in railroad repair shops was voiced by representatives of employees Monday before the Railroad Labor Board Wednesday.

Witnesses with the piece work advocates were asked to answer the question of whether or not they would be willing to work for overtime and for holidays on Sundays. All witnesses declared they would not be willing to work overtime for straight pay.

Body of Missing Priest Is

Bullets in Head and Heart

By Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—The body of Rev. Patrick Heslin, missing Catholic priest, who disappeared from his parish, Holy Angels Catholic church, the night of August 2, was found buried at the bottom of a sand dune near Sausalito Beach, on the Pacific ocean, about 20 miles south of San Francisco. Father Heslin had been murdered and there was a bullet through his heart and one through his head, the latter having torn away part of the skull.

The body was exhumed at 11 o'clock last night by a party consisting of Chief of Police Daniel O'Brien of San Francisco, Constable Landini of Colma, four newspaper men and William A. Hightower, discoverer of the grave. The party left San Francisco late last night, riding on a ship given by Hightower that he had discovered the grave, and the body was exhumed by the light of a lantern.

Hightower, after his clue had proved successful, was held by the police pending investigation. The body was buried in a cramped position in a trench beneath an overhanging wall. It was covered with two feet of loose sand.

Hightower, according to the police, said he acted on a clue given by a Dolly Mason whom he had previously known in Salt Lake City. This woman, he said, told him Sunday she had seen a man who appeared to be a foreigner on Friday night and on becoming intoxicated he had broken revelations to her. The police are searching for Dolly Mason. The foreigner, she said, had shown her a pistol and when she pretended to shrink in fear he said:

"You do right to be afraid of that gun. It has taken his life."

Dolly Mason asked where the man was buried.

"He is not alone," the foreigner is said to have replied. "I have a man watching him all the time—a man who sits and cooks flapjacks."

At the time the foreigner, Dolly Mason told Hightower, expressed hatred of the Catholic church.

Farm Products Show During the Fall Is Planned.
At the monthly meeting of the Fayette Farm Bureau executive committee, held last night, it was decided unanimously to hold the farm products show again this fall. It is the hope of the bureau that the display of grain, vegetables and all farm produce will go back to the pre-war basis. Many new and attractive classes have been added to the contest. The contest will be held at T. W. Gans of Gans, and the wheat crop, won by A. M. Kendall of East Millboro, will again be placed for competition. An especially strong class is expected in corn exhibits on account of the outlook for an unsurpassed bumper crop this fall. The bureau has been especially fortunate in being able to offer a handsome silver loving cup for the best individual farm exhibit. This is to include anything the entire family cares to assist in collecting on the entire farm. It is needless to emphasize that the products can be obtained from only one farm.

THURSDAY EVENG, AUG. 11, 1921.

OUR SOLID BASIS.

The foundations of American prosperity are as sound as ever. They were right now the principal food crops harvested are growing, approximately $182,000,000 bushels of wheat, corn only, rice, potatoes, apples, peaches, barley, etc. There is the basis of the substance of our living and it is far from a famine outlook that is presented. More it is the basis of the greatest industry and commerce that pulsate and flow throughout our land from one end of the point to the other.
Winter, the relative scarcity may be however, stock general business may appear there is no stopping business. These enormous crops of themselves make a prodigious demand for every article of commerce which we supply. Their growth must be supplied with a multiplicity of things.
Though the farmer, he not lacking in their expenditures, they cannot close up their purses, entirely. They do not pretend to do so. And the greater proportion of these crops will be consumed far from where they are produced. They must be hauled most of them by railroad or steamboat. Their distribution from primary points and their transportation to the grains allows into considerable form will provide work for millions.

All this should and we may have confidence that it will give impulse to every factor of business reluctant as some people may be to move until the irresistible tide sweeps them along.
There is nothing doing. It is the prevalent expression. It is that no one can be any reasonable test that may be adopted. The United States Steel Corporation reports a falling off of ordered for July amounting to 287,544 tons. If this figure represents the product delivered last month there was something doing in the mills.
Quite likely there would have been a better showing were human beings less prone to act on suggestions. The person who says there is nothing doing not only is not likely to thrive to start anything but he will deter others. Mark Twain once said: "I dislike work even when another person does it, which may, because it is the habit of men, cause a lot of foolish ones to shirk work until they are diverted to laboring. There is a great deal being done. There would be a great deal more if the people would take the farmers for their model and keep going." The farmers assure us that we cannot live satisfactorily by farmers' labor alone.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Guss

THE MENACE OF FAME.
He went to bed a humble fellow
Content with all that he possessed
He thought himself no better than His neighbors living out of west
His hand was out to all he knew
From his one ear was he exalted Fame honored him he night was through.
And in the morning he was changed
The cheers of men were in his ears
Some little dream he had achieved
They praised as men have praised for years.
He should be proud and believed
The drug of flattery turned his brain
And those who had been friends before
Could never see him again
And find a welcome at his door.
The old time neighbors he forgot
The little house was closed for good.
He forgot he felt that he could not be seen in such a neighborhood
Yet such a little time ago
Both peace and joy had crowned him
And until then he was his own
The little street seemed yonderous full.
Oh, why is it that fame should spoil
The man and turn his love to hate?
Why should the brother used to toil
Forget the father when he's great?
Fame's but an outer garb to wear
And underneath the world's acclaim
And honors white and fair
The man is really just the same.

Forty Per Cent Steel Operation By October Seen

A Youngstown dispatch to the Wall Street Journal says:
Increase in current activities of the iron and steel industry in the Mahoning valley is attributed by President J. A. Campbell, Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, largely to accumulation of orders. "It is not due to the placing of large orders," he states, "as the consumer is buying what he actually needs and no more since he is expecting further declines in prices."

"The fact that buyers are placing larger orders for immediate requirements is, however, an encouraging feature of the situation. It shows that stocks are running low and the necessity of replenishing them is growing greater every day. For instance, railroads have been using every pound of material, shipping rail plates and spikes from New York to Chicago in an effort to use up all their stock before placing new orders. This must necessarily produce new and increased business in the near future. When all their supplies are exhausted, they will be compelled to go into the market."

He believes an upward movement has started in the industry which will carry average operations to 40 per cent during September and October. Inflow of new business is not sufficient, however, he states, to warrant the assumption that the current operating rate will be maintained through August.

He contends there must be a general reduction in freight charges, not only affecting steel and raw materials entering into its production, but all lines of commodities, before there can be permanent prosperity.

SAVE ROBINS' NEST

Board Yielded to Pleas of Teachers and Pupils.

Teachers and pupils in the Garfield school at Columbus, Ind., protested recently to the school board when a man employed by the board to trim the trees in the school yard of the city threatened to destroy a nest on which a robin was sitting.

The school board ordered the trimmer to spare the tree.

Twenty years ago a pair of robins built a nest in this tree, hatched and raised the young. Every spring since robins have come to the same tree. The nest is placed so that pupils, by looking from the windows of an upper room, can watch the robins feed the young.

News of Dunbar

Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, Aug. 11.—Strawberries are a luxury at any season of the year, but they are doubly so when picked fresh from the vines at this time of year. Yesterday J. L. Koffer picked almost a half gallon of prime ripe berries from his small patch of Progressive plants, and the plants have many more green berries and many blossoms and buds for others. Blueberries, green berries, blossoms and buds are found on the same plants, and the yield will keep up until a hard freeze kills the vegetation. Last year a good many berries were picked in November. This season the plants bore a good crop when other strawberries were ripening, and they have been bearing continuously since. The area from which they are gathered is but an ordinary sized garden plot. This luxury can easily be enjoyed by any one who has a garden.

D. A. Koffer and daughter Helen and granddaughter Martha Craig, returned to their home in Clinton after spending ten days at their country residence on Ferguson road. Mrs. Koffer has remained and will spend several weeks here. She has as her guests this week Mrs. Hazel K. Pedin, wife of Captain Jack Pedin of Pittsburgh, and James Pedin of Pittsburgh, brother of the captain. They contemplate rustication in this section for a fortnight, taking many mountain hikes meantime.

Mrs. Pedin is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Koffer. Miss Ruth and Master Fred Koffer of Koffers, left this morning for a week's visit with relatives in Nicholson township.

Rev. R. S. Hardin is spending his vacation in Ohio, his former home. Mrs. Hardin preceded him several weeks, and will return with him the first of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Downs have moved from Koffers to the furnace. Charles Cole, who has been sick for the past two weeks, is able for duty again, but yet feels the effect of his illness.

John Richard Salley is having his property on Church Hill improved with a new stone foundation. L. A. Lehman of Koffers and William Leanne of Peckla are doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith and son Harold, and Edgar Holzing and "Dutch" Rosenberg are spending a fortnight at Blackstone on the Georgian Bay, Canada, fishing and resting. Postal cards are telling some interesting fish stories but it will require their return to furnish the proof. They, however, report fish plentiful and mosquitoes not over abundant, and are enjoying the trip.

The new garage in Woodvale street is almost completed and will be in use by next week. It is a fine building and adds much to the appearance of the town.

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and backache. It began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains so I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HENRIET L. CASSIN, 15 Mont Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework. She was so ill. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had backache, headache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from the doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHESTER A. BALL, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience:
Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a headache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without crying with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong and healthy as any woman; and I give my thanks to it for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQuerry, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassin, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuerry will appeal to many women who struggle on with their daily tasks in just such condition—in fact, it is said that the tragedy of some women is almost beyond belief. Day in and day out they slave in their homes for their families—and beside the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from those awful bearing-down pains, backache, headache, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for all cases of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

REVIVES MARRIAGE MART

France Using Ancient Plan of Marrying Off Surplus of Women.

The ancient marriage market idea is being revived in some parts of France because of the superabundance of comely marriageable women unable to find husbands. There scores of young wives in the great central market place, each armed with a huge colored parasol, and kissing in a common way as smiles.

Frequently during the market a willing swain is accepted, the usual sign being that the couple turn their backs on the rest of the crowd and continue their kissing behind a sheltering parasol. But often the market fails to bring immediate results and the applicant is rejected by receiving a hearty blow on the shoulders with the parasol.

Officials insist that the practice should be extended to all parts of France, pointing out that in districts where wives are chosen like vegetables there are more happy marriages, fewer divorces and fewer illegitimate children than in any other departments.

Good Advice.
"This—uh—uh—spaghetti is awful—uh—uh—slippery stuff," complained a customer in the rapid-food restaurant.

"Aw, don't try to eat it with your knife," briefly said Heloise, the waitress. "Catch it by the tail and reel it in."—Country Gentleman.

The Practical Viewpoint.
"The motion pictures should be censored," "Of course," replied Mr. Starnington Barnes. "Nothing bores any kind of a show like an argument about its merit."

BRILLIANT CATCH SAVES GAME FOR CHURCH STARS

Rightfielder Kerns Spears Drive
Ticked for Fayette Field Fence.

CAPTAN HAS FIELD DAY

A brilliant one-handed catch by Kerns, rightfielder for the Church League All Stars, saved the church team from possible defeat at the hands of Captain Glass yesterday afternoon at Fayette field. The ninth inning opened with the score 5-6 in favor of the All Stars. A blazing drive by Hobe Fisher enabled the Captain to make the clearest of the bases, after two were out. "Dunbar" slammed out one and then Clawson started out to amputate Fisher. His drive seemed tickled for the fence, but Kerns interfered, bringing down the ball by a high running leap and the game was ended.

The Captain team made a bad start when it allowed the All Stars to score eight runs in the first three innings. Then Moorman, who was on the mound for Captain, lightened up and the All Stars were held scoreless until the eighth inning. T. Barnhart pitched the whole game for the All Stars and made seven opposing batters bite the dust.

The ball game was a part of Captains field day, which was attended by hundreds during the afternoon and evening. The glass workers held a festival, provided daylight and night fireworks and made the occasion generally entertaining to those who came. The Baltimore & Ohio band played.

In Defense of Mt. Braddock Ball Team

The following communication from Mount Braddock to the sporting editor of the Courier takes exception to a characterization of the baseball team at that place as a "one-man" team. It speaks for itself:

"The people here, and especially the ball team and its sponsors, feel that an item appearing in the sporting news from the American Manganese team, in your issue of July 29, does injustice to our team, and hope that you will find space for the following in order that the facts may be known, and the records compared. The item refers to a statement that 'We are playing a practice series with the new team of Mount Braddock.'"

"In justice to the Mount Braddock team we beg to state that the 'Dunbar-Trotter' team challenged the Mount Braddock team to play a series of three games. Two of these games have been played, each team winning one. As they now stand in a total of both games played Mount Braddock has 11 hits and 10 runs; Dunbar-Trotter has 11 hits and seven runs. Figures do not lie, and from the figures it would appear that possibly the 'Dunbar-Trotter' outfit does need practice."

"The 'one-man' to whom the statement referred is conceded one of the very best pitchers in the region. But the Mount Braddock team has also one of the best catchers, though now unfortunately out of the game temporarily with a broken finger. Besides these two, the support of all-around first-class players has enabled the team to make an enviable record in the 20 games played this season; 25 were won and two tied. Other rumors that the team is in the habit of quarrelling and walking off the field, etc., are incorrect. Under the able management of Ever Williams the team has been commendable in every respect.

"Nobody disputes that Dunbar has a good team. It should have, for its players are drawn from a wide area, including some of the crack players of the former Frick teams. But it errs if it thinks it can increase its standing by endeavoring to discredit other teams in the region. A reputation built on games won is all right, but one built on bluff cannot weather the storms."

Presbyterians To Have Tennis

Tennis followers of the First Presbyterian church are completing their tennis court on West Green street. The fund for the ground, which will be used in building it and keeping it in shape, is $99 and over.

Those in charge of the work are trying to get the court in playing condition as soon as possible and the only way that this is possible is for the members of the church who wish to have playing privileges to turn out and help. The ground is all leveled and in good shape and the next thing that needs to be done is to place the posts and wire. The wire is all ready. The ground is owned by E. K. Dick.

KLAIRDALES-SOISSON

A game par excellence is promised at the Poplar Grove lot this evening when the Klairdales meet the Soisson Theatre All-Stars on the home diamond. The All-Stars are going out for blood, which the Klairdales coolly declare will not be drawn from them. Manager Benjie Beal indicated this morning that "Gravy" Riland, will start fanning the All-Star sluggers for the home team, and is confident that he will not have to be relieved. The game will be called promptly at 5:30 o'clock.

ST. PAUL IS STRONG FOR TOMMY GIBBONS

Has Best Chance to Make Dempsey Tira Himself Out.

Titleholder Usually Fights With That Ferocity That Exhausts Himself and Flattens Opponent in Short Order.

Tommy Gibbons probably could last longer in the ring with Dempsey than any other heavyweight in the world, claims a St. Paul writer, and it is possible that he might be able to ward off the clipping, leading titleholder until the latter exhausted himself. Dempsey usually fights with ferocity that exhausts him as well as flattens his opponent, and he has been called upon to go more than four or five rounds on mighty few occasions.

Gibbons, in short, has a better chance to make Dempsey wear him self down than have any of the others, but the point is Tommy, classiest artist that he is, is not a knockout fighter. There may have been many times when he won so handily that making the other fellow "measure the canvas" was an unnecessary cruel procedure, but he that as it may, Tommy's record isn't overcrowded with "K. O.'s." Expecting him to ward off the demoralized destruction of Dempsey is one thing; expecting to knock out the titleholder is entirely another. If Tommy can stay 15 rounds with Jack, he can pile up an impressive array of points.

The Chicago club has taken on an outfielder named Frank Fuller, who last year played in the Independent Delta league with Greenwood, Miss.

Ross Roberts, pitching ace of the Martinsburg (Blue Ridge league) baseball club, has been sold to the Petersburg club of the Virginia State league.

A new umpire in the Southern league is the veteran Tommy Corbett, who of late years has worked in the Eastern and International leagues.

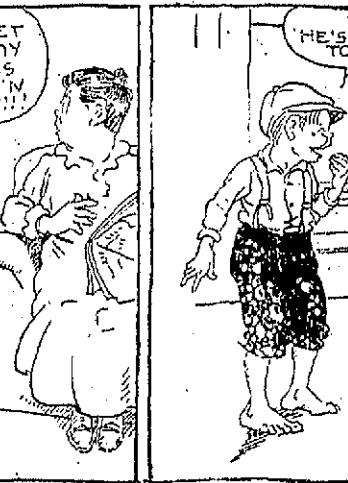

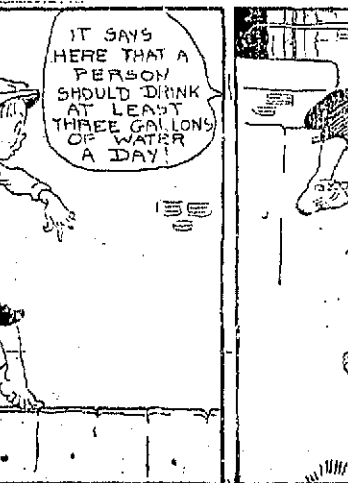

With GE Meyers reporting to New Orleans, Manager Doherty released Doc Smith, his second-string backstop, to Nashville, where he was put in the outfield.

The Chicago club has released Jeff Steffert, the Southwestern university pitching phenom to Sioux City of the Western league.

COKE MARKET RELAPSES TO FORMER STATE OF LETHARGY

Conditions Are Substantially the Same as Reported Week Ago.

NO DECLINE IN PRICES

While Claims Are Made Furnace Coke Can Be Bought for $2.75 and Foundry for $2.75 Investigation Shows Strings Attached; Pig Iron Too Low.

Special to The Weekly Courier.
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 10.—After the occasional transactions that have occurred in the past few weeks, brightening a market so dull that it required little to make a distinct point of interest, the coke situation has relapsed into lethargy again. There have been no developments such as would change the character of the market or the level of prices from conditions that existed a week ago.

There are claims being made that the market is better than it was a week ago. It is asserted by some, for instance, that standard furnace coke for spot or prompt shipment can be bought at $2.75 and that standard foundry coke can be secured at $2.75 or less. Careful investigation indicates that there is a string tied to all such statements. It is true that "coke" can be bought at $2.75 and less. Coke is coke as long as it is not ashes. Good heating coke, even, can hardly be had at less than $2.75. There is some soft coke, and first drawings, that can be had at less, but that has nothing to do with standard furnace coke. Incidentally, the fact that there are such things as "first drawings" suggests that the coke market is not precisely on the hogback. Then, as to prices on foundry coke, there are sellers who will take a chance and sell for foundry use a coke that cannot be classified as strictly foundry coke, and in these days of piling costs there are some foundrymen who will take a chance. Others are more particular than ever about quality.

The whole coke market is quotable at the same prices as a week ago, and it is just as steady at the prices as it was then. Sometimes a market is "weaker but not noticeably changed" but the coke market this week is not in that condition. Prices are as follows:

Spot furnace $2.20 @ $2.30
Contract furnace $2.00 @ $2.25
Spot foundry $1.00 @ $1.10

The trade has shown less interest than might be expected in the recent transaction by which the Sherrill Steel Hoop company, in starting its Mary furnace at Lowellville, bought by-product coke from the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company. In some quarters the view was taken that the transaction occurred with competition between Connellsville coke and the by-product coke, and that the by-product coke beat the Connellsville coke on a plain matter of price. One report had it that it beat the price by a simple matter of 25 cents a ton. That is theory, and there is really no reason to suppose that there was actual competition at all. The by-product coke presumably went to an altogether special price, made for the purpose of liquidating a pile that had accumulated. The actual price has remained a secret. The steel interest had previously bought basic pig iron at $15.75 a ton, and the Connellsville steel plant, that there is no conceivable price that would be done on a regular coke contract that would enable a furnace to come out even on $18 pig iron or anything like that price. In other words, the transaction does not suggest that the market is going to be any price competition with by-product coke that Connellsville operators will have to meet.

What the blast furnace industry really wants is not a lower price for coke, but an advance in pig iron prices, after present stock, and are being forced to liquidation are out of the way, or a reduction in freight rates that will put down the cost of assembling the raw materials at blast furnaces. With has/c pig iron at $18.00 a ton, the market has gotten away from any level at which the coke operator could help the furnace out by making a price concession. This is perfectly plain in the pig iron trade. The Valley furnaces show that the freight in assembling the raw materials, coke, ore and limestone, to make a ton of pig iron exceeds $10. They hope for a reduction in freight eventually, though perhaps not until about the end of the year, that will take off 20 per cent which would be $2 a ton, and assert that even that would not let them out with $18 pig iron. If the coke operators themselves, sold coke at $1 instead of $2, they would be making a concession that the furnacemen say is not enough to let them out, hence the market has gotten quite beyond the possibility of aid by the coke operator, who feels that he may just as well wait until $8, $9.25 or $9.50 will be paid for his coke. Some operators have one figure, some another.

The pig iron market is as quiet as ever, but it is now being said that in foundry grade, there are appearing slight signs that stocks are no longer in altogether plentiful supply, so that the market may soon get out of the basic and off the waste or "liquidation of stocks" that has been making prices for some time past. As to basic there is no corresponding indication. The merchant furnaces have still quite a lot of basic and the steel works have still more. Bessemer iron stocks are somewhat limited, but as there is no call for Bessemer iron that does not help them out, that does not help the market. Quotable prices are the same as a week ago:

Bessemer $24.00
Basic $18.00
Foundry $19.50
These prices are for a D. Valley furnace. Freight to Pittsburgh is $1.05.

STEEL INgot OUTPUT DROPS TO 20 PER CENT CAPACITY, RECORD MARK

Industry Recovering, Belief Is No Combination of Circumstances Will Again Bring It So Low.

Special to The Weekly Courier.
NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

Production of steel ingots in July averaged a rate of about 11,000,000 gross tons a year or 21 per cent of capacity, while at the middle of the month the rate was a shade under 20 per cent. This will probably remain in history as the lowest percentage rate of steel mill operation. Production is now recovering slowly and no combination of circumstances is likely ever to bring the rate so low again. A 25 per cent rate is likely to be crossed this month and it seems an easy guess that the last quarter of the year will average between 30 and 40 per cent. This would be a low rate in one sense but would represent a substantial recovery from the low point.

That demand upon the steel mills is on the mend, and will stay on that course is perfectly plain. A definite improvement in inquiry was noticeable by July 10 and the actual increase in bookings began about July 15.

Up in date engagements made with the mills have been almost entirely for steel imperatively needed, but interest is now being shown by buyers who could postpone buying for a while longer if they believed they could thereby get lower quotations. There is a contest of wits as to whether or not 1,500 on bars and 1,000 on plates and shapes will be forced eventually, with freight rates as they are and wages on the back of about 40 cents an hour for common labor. Buyers seem to expect this while mills insist it will not be done. As the open market is 1.75 on bars and 1.85 on shapes and plates, with some concessions, the trade has now gotten down to some very close figuring, as compared with conditions not so long ago, when $2 to $3 a ton would come off at a stroke.

Of the various branches of the finished steel trade, the sheet branch makes the best showing, with demand from practically all quarters, though in conservative tonnages, and production at about one-third of capacity.

WEEKLY OUTPUT OF BEEHIVE COKE AT 40,000 TONS

Is About Tenth of Weekly Average During Corresponding Period of Year 1920.

Production of beehive coke appears to have settled down to a weekly rate of about 40,000 tons, according to the report of the U. S. Geological Survey. The total output in the week ended July 30 is estimated at 40,000 tons; the week before it had been 41,000 tons. This is only a tenth of the weekly rate in July, 1920. Cumulative production since January 1 now stands at 3,662,000 tons, as against 12,411,000 in the corresponding period of 1920.

Production by states, compared with the corresponding week of 1920 was as follows:

State	1921	1920
Pennsylvania and Ohio	39,000	305,000
West Virginia	2,000	30,000
Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia	3,000	25,000
Virginia and Kentucky	3,000	21,000
Colorado, Oklahoma and New Mexico	2,000	9,000
Washington and Utah	1,000	5,000
U. S. Total	50,000	395,000

Production of bituminous coal continues gradually to decline. The total output during the last week of July (including Hawaii and coal chiefly is estimated at 7,261,000 tons, a decrease of 22,000 tons from the week preceding. Lake dumpings during the same period, fell off 21,000 tons, and overseas exports still more. The following statement furnished by the American Railway Association shows the number of cars loaded daily:

Monday, July 25, 24,970; Tuesday, July 26, 25,200; Wednesday, July 27, 24,787; Thursday, July 28, 23,462; Friday, July 29, 22,762; Saturday, July 30, 16,829.

Preliminary reports indicate that loadings on Monday and Tuesday of the present week (August 1-2) totaled 48,650 cars, or 1,601 cars less than on the corresponding days of the week preceding. This suggests a further decline in production.

GOOD GENERAL PURPOSE BARN

ALL DRUGGERY IS CUT OUT

Equipment Makes Care of Stock Easy—Provisions for Ventilation and Sanitation Tend to Increase Production.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF CHARGE on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building barns on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is without doubt, the highest authority on all the subjects addressed. All inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 127 Franklin Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only include two-cent stamp for reply.

On many farms the dairy herd is not large enough to demand a separate barn; in that case a general purpose barn is used. In fact on most small farms this is the most convenient and efficient type of building. It serves the house not only the dairy herd but the horses as well. In building this barn, however, it is important to install the right kind of equipment and use the best materials. Extra expense at the start will save money in the long run. Many farmers make the mistake of building a cheap structure without realizing that it will not last any length of time, and will be a continuous source of trouble and expense as long as he has it on his farm. The farm barn should be carefully planned on paper before it is built, and all possible angles considered carefully. Then when it is built it will be a source of pride and real satisfaction to the owner, and a wonderful asset in many ways than one. It will mean a great saving in labor, relief from drudgery, and increased production from the animals.

When the barn shown here was planned all these things were taken into consideration. First the actual construction was studied. It was decided that a frame structure on a substantial concrete foundation would make a very practical and attractive exterior. The roof is gabled, eaved, and large ventilators have been installed to draw off the foul air. Incidentally it is well to mention need of lightning protection. Ninety-nine per cent of the fires on the farm have been caused by lightning and the lightning rod has been found an effective preventive.

This building is built to be used, with the horse stalls in the cross wing and the cow stalls in the long section. These two sections are separated by a solid wall, an arrangement required by health departments in some states. In the horse section there are two double stalls, two single stalls and two box stalls. Fresh air inlets at regular intervals along the wall just above the stalls insure a continuous supply of fresh, invigorating air. The stall partitions are of the latest steel type and the floor is concrete. Just beyond the horse barn is a 16-foot silo connected with both wings of the barn by a curving system.

The other part of the wing containing the horse stalls is divided into feed rooms where the feed is stored and prepared for all of the animals. This feed is loaded on the "feed carrier," which runs on a carrier track in the center aisle and carries without any trouble to the far corner of the barn. There is room for 24 cows in the other section of the building. These stalls are arranged in two rows, facing each other, with litter alleys in the rear of each row. As in the case of the main aisle in the center, these litter alleys are also equipped with carrier tracks and litter carriers which carry the manure and litter directly from the stalls to the manure pit. All stalls are divided by steel partitions and fitted with sanitary washbottles and drinking cups. These features are important and should not be overlooked by the farmer. A steady water supply, such as is furnished by individual drinking cups helps to increase the milk supply and also stimulates the work of drying the cows in a trough. All along the stall floor are high double hung windows insuring plenty of daylight to make the stalls as cheerful as possible. Fresh air inlets in the cow barn, as in the horse section, insuring plenty of fresh air at all times. Foul air shifts draw off the poisonous gases which are liable to settle near the floor. At one end of the cow barn are two pens for cows and bulls. Although giving an impression of spaciousness this building is not unusually large, its dimensions being 64 by 32 feet.

MUST HAVE HAPPY ENDINGS

Playgoers Will Not Stand for Dramas That Finish in an Atmosphere of Gloom.

A popular novel had been dramatized and all the critics declared that, while dramatic, it had not been well adapted, and all the scenes were as true to life as in the novel, something was lacking. It was soon discovered what was the matter. The story ended unhappily. What one may like in literature, one doesn't like in drama. As the third act was rewritten and a joyous ending substituted. The effect was instantaneous. "The reception of the play," we learn, "was electric. Those who were seeing it for the first time were thrilled with this great exposition of American life. Those who had seen it in its first form marvelled at the quickening of the piece."

And yet the cognoscenti agreed with one voice that the story which closed in unhappiness was the truer act, with its logical and inevitable conclusion. Nevertheless, one of the noted critics who came to the theater performance said: "I'll have to admit that I'm lowbrow. I like the accepted, tried forms better."

So that's the difference between the drama and the novel. "Loss of the off-balance" goes on in gloom, but when a weak thing is seen and Angel Chaire had "lived happy ever after."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mars Must Be Satisfied. According to a recent computation, Austria devotes only a little more than 3 per cent of the total budget to the support of its military forces. More than 10 per cent of the total public expenditures of France, and 12 1/2 per cent of those of Great Britain are for the army. Czechoslovakia allocates nearly 17 per cent of its revenues to the same purpose, and Japan spends more than 28 per cent. Hungary, Austria's next door neighbor, has assigned 22 1/2 per cent of its budget for military purposes.—The Living Age.
